HANG SENG INDEXES CELEBRATES 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF HANG SENG INDEX BASE DATE

Hang Seng Indexes Company Limited (Hang Seng Indexes), a wholly owned subsidiary of Hang Seng Bank and the leading compiler of indexes covering Hong Kong and mainland China, today held a cocktail reception to mark the 50th anniversary of the base date of its flagship index, the Hang Seng Index (HSI).

The HSI started at 100 points on its base date of 31 July 1964 and was launched to the public on 24 November 1969. On 31 July 2014, the Index closed at 24,756.85 – about 250 times higher than its base value.

Mr John Tsang, Financial Secretary of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region Government; Ms Rose Lee, Chairman of Hang Seng Index Advisory Committee; and Mr Vincent Kwan, Director and General Manager of Hang Seng Indexes, officiated at the ceremony.

Speaking at the ceremony, Mr Tsang said: “Considered by many to be the leading barometer of the Hong Kong stock market, the Hang Seng Index provides a comprehensive picture of the Hong Kong economy. This important index is widely recognised by investors all over the world. The Hang Seng Index is comparable to other major international stock indexes such as the Dow Jones Industrial Average and S&P 500 in the US and the FTSE 100 in London, and is globally rated as an important reference index.”

Ms Lee said: “The valuable role played by the Hang Seng Index over the years reflects the vision of Hang Seng’s early pioneers – particularly former Chairman the late Dr Lee Quo-Wei, who initiated the establishment of the index. This in-house tool was so useful that it was shared with the general public.

“Fifty years on from the HSI’s base date, Hang Seng Indexes is actively developing indexes related to the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect for those with an interest in China’s markets. Initiatives such as the Qianhai Cooperation Zone and growing economic ties between Shenzhen and Hong Kong are also providing new opportunities for the compilation of new indexes,” added Ms Lee.

The 50th anniversary reception featured an exhibition of major milestones in HSI’s journey to its current position as the leading barometer of the performance of the Hong Kong stock market. Historical documents highlighting the Index’s development were also on display.
